Dale Christian School - Vision and Mission

Our vision is to offer affordable, quality, Christ-centred education and to equip our students with skills and strong values that encourage them to pursue excellence spiritually, academically and socially.

We strive to ensure that every student who attends, will clearly hear the claims of Christ over their lives in areas of management, curriculum and teaching practices. We seek to provide opportunities for students to learn in a peaceful, Christ-centred environment, where there is a sense of meaning and security. Our families can experience the love of God at work and the Holy Spirit is able to minister to all members of the school community.

Our students should demonstrate respect and have the courage to make decisions which are not necessarily popular, but righteous. The students will have a sense of fairness and justice. Dale Christian School will strive to equip them to become effective life-long learners with strong resiliency, flexibility and problem-solving abilities. (Micah 6:8)

COMPLAINTS POLICY FOR STUDENTS AND PARENTS

Introduction

As a Christian School it is important to stress that while we recognize that complaints arise, there is a biblical pattern for resolving such issues that is aimed at bringing about resolution, without undermining or damaging relationships.

Dale Christian School is a community and as such, there will be times when parents will wish to make suggestions, may have a complaint or raise a concern that needs addressing. Dale Christian School takes these issues seriously and welcomes such feedback. The Complaints System is outlined briefly below to assist families should such a need occur. Please remember it is our policy that we wish to deal with issues sooner rather than later.

A complaint will be treated as an expression of genuine dissatisfaction that needs a response.

Dale Christian School wishes to ensure that:

- Parents have an understanding of how to make a complaint should the need or situation arise
- Dale Christian School responds within a reasonable time frame and in a courteous and efficient manner
- Parents understand that they are listened to and that complaints are viewed seriously
- Action is taken where appropriate

RATIONALE

The ministry of an effective Christian School is dependent on the existence of positive relationships among and between members of the School community at all levels. The importance of unity cannot be overstated as we have a responsibility before our students to model Christian behaviour in every area, particularly our relationships. In fact, we are commanded to live in relationship; first to love God and then to love one another. Our relationships with one another are a reflection of our corporate spirituality. When issues arise which jeopardize our unity we should endeavour to resolve such issues in ways, which maintain relationships and bring Glory to God.

The Western Australian School Education Act 1999 includes a standard, applicable to Non-Government Schools that relates to 'the response to, and recording of, complaints and disputes at schools.' Sec 159(1)(k).

Complaints, where possible, are to be resolved closest to the source of the complaint. They will be addressed professionally, competently, confidentially and in a timely manner.

Complainants are to be well behaved, confidential and courteous. Complainants who are unreasonable, threatening or discourteous can expect the discussion to be terminated until such time as an alternative meeting is arranged by the school. The Principals will determine whether anonymous complaints are investigated.

AIM

The implementation of an effective concerns and complaints policy and procedure would serve to:

- provide a basis for continual review and analysis of the complaints' handling process, the resolution of complaints and improvement.
- enhance the school's ability to resolve complaints in a consistent, systematic and responsive manner;
- enable and encourage staff to improve their skills in complaints' handling;
- provide the school with helpful information to assist in the identification of trends and eliminate causes of complaints; and
- provide a basis for continual review and analysis of the complaints' handling process, the resolution of complaints and improvement.

DEFINITIONS

A concern is the expression of a worry, something that has made a person troubled or anxious about an issue and is expressed at a 'first level' ie to a class teacher at the classroom door or by telephone or email directly to the relevant staff member. Depending on the nature of the concern, it can often be resolved at this 'first level' in a more informal manner. NB: It would be prudent nonetheless for the teacher or staff member concerned to make and file a brief note regarding the issue and interaction in case of future escalation.

A complaint is an "expression of dissatisfaction made to an organisation, related to its products, or the complaints handling process itself, where a response or resolution is explicitly or implicitly expected" (as defined by the Australian Complaint Handling Standard ISO AS 10002-2006). Within a school this would usually equate to an expression, in writing, of protest, objection, dissatisfaction with a real or perceived problem, accusation, or criticism and is usually dealt with in a formal manner. Irrespective of whether the complaint was first expressed as a concern, it would be expected to be in the form of a written communication, a letter or email, addressed directly to the relevant staff member, the Principal or the Chair of the school's governing body.

A dispute would usually be viewed as an argument or disagreement and may be the result of a pursued unresolved complaint.

The role of the Director General as referenced in The Registration standard 9.3:

'The Director General of the Department of Education is responsible for ensuring that the school observes the registration standards, including the standard about its complaints handling system. Any student, parent or community member is entitled to contact the Director General with concerns about how the school has dealt with a complaint. Information is available on the Department of Education website. While the Director General may consider whether the school has breached the registration standards, she does not have power to intervene in a complaint or override the school's decision.'

1. PROCEDURE

1.1. Lines of Approach

It is up to the school as to the lines of approach, as long as there is a clear procedure, communicated to all and adherence is encouraged. It may be appropriate that all members of staff are encouraged to deal with parental concerns that lie within their area of responsibility.

If approached about a matter that lies outside their responsibility, staff should refer the person to the policy and advise them of the next step.

Some complainants will wish to go straight to the Principal with their concerns, and this should be respected. However, it should be explained that the Principal might not be able to respond until he/she has consulted the staff that can help and/or are involved.

Serious complaints should be shared with the Chair of the school governing body by the Principal. There may be certain circumstances, such as complaints about the Principal, where it will be necessary for the complainant to write directly to the Chair, whose address should be readily available.

1.2. Procedural Fairness

Procedural fairness is concerned with the procedures used by a decision maker rather than the actual outcome reached. It requires a fair and proper procedure be used when making a decision.

The rules of procedural fairness require:

- a hearing appropriate to the circumstances;
- lack of bias;
- evidence to support a decision;
- inquiry into matters of dispute.

The duty to act fairly requires that:

- the decision maker must have an open mind (free from bias) when reading/listening to what is said by both parties; and
- people whose interests will be affected by the decision must have the chance to give response before the decision is made, but after all important information has been gathered.

1.3. Resolution

Satisfaction for a complainant may come from any of the following:

- knowing that changes have been made and that matters will be different in future;
- knowing that the school is now alert to a possible problem;
- feeling that their concern has been considered seriously;
- an outcome which may be different from the one they sought, but which they perceive to be well-considered;
- a considered letter;
- an apology.

If time is needed to investigate/consider the complaint then the complainant should be kept informed of its progress, in writing, giving the assurance that the issue has been understood and the matter is being dealt with.

Following an appropriate investigation, the school should offer a response, for example to correct the problem and prevent it happening in the future. However, Dale Christian School is not obliged to give complainants explicit information on what action has been taken, but rather provide an assurance that action has been taken. This is especially important when the matter involves a staff member. Outlining the resolution, to the degree considered appropriate by the school and in the interests of satisfying the complainant, should help prevent misinformation being circulated in the school community.

1.4. Recording

It is important to maintain an effective register of complaints and log of concerns as:

- it provides information should there be legal action in the future;
- patterns may be identified that indicate a need for action;
- it provides information for reporting, by the Principal, to the School governing body as required.

The register/log should contain the following information:

- date when the issue was raised and to whom it was raised;
- name of complainant and relevant parties involved;
- brief statement of issue;
- the action taken
- decision taken/made
- outcome
- record to see if any emerging patterns

Confidential files on all complaints should be maintained and kept together and cross-referenced with other files as necessary. The files should contain simple but clear notes of all communication with the complainant. This includes friendly chats and telephone conversations, as misunderstandings easily arise. There should be a clear statement of what is concerning the complainant. The notes can be agreed with the complainant.

2. DISPUTES

Most complaints can be resolved if approached positively. However, a pursued unresolved complaint may become the subject of a dispute for a variety of reasons including the nature of the original complaint, the way in which it was handled, or possibly because the parent perceives the school to have 'closed ranks' against him or her.

Pursued, unresolved complaints/disputes are usually taken to the school's governing body Chair, and/or as a last resort and if both parties agree, an independent arbiter.

2.1. Referral to the Chair of the school governing body

In some cases the procedure will be that the Principal refers the matter to the Chair of the school's governing body and advises the complainant that this is the next step in the process. However, a situation may arise where the complainant is unhappy with the Principal's response, in which case the complainant should be able to write directly to the Chair.

The Chair should discuss the matter fully with the Principal and be provided with relevant documentation. If a briefing is required from a member of staff, this should occur in the presence of the Principal.

The Chair should respond to the complainant, notifying them that he/she is reviewing the matter, asking them if they wish to add anything further and providing a date by which they may expect a response. The Chair's response should be clear and detailed, and should offer a meeting if the complainant remains troubled.

2.2. Meeting with the Chair of the School Governing Body

If a meeting is requested, the Chair would offer to meet the complainant at a time convenient to them. Those involved are:

- the Chair of the school governing body;
- the Principal and, at the most, one other member of staff; and
- the complainant.

The complainant should be permitted to bring with them a supportive friend who is not involved with the complaint. Legal representation would be discouraged at this stage.

The Chair, after questioning and listening to the complainant and the Principal, may be able to find a solution. If this is not possible, and the complainant wishes to take the matter further, the Chair could consider engaging an independent arbiter.

2.3. Referral to an Independent Arbiter

As a final step in the disputes and complaints procedure, if appropriate, Dale Christian School could use an independent arbiter to review the process that has been implemented to that stage and to assist in the facilitation of a resolution. The process around the use of an independent arbiter would be determined by the content of the Disputes and mediation information in the school's constitution. It is usual practice for the arbiter to be:

- Independent
- Assured both parties will accept the arbiter's decision.

2.4. Further Action

At all stages of a complaints' resolution process the complainant should be reminded that they can seek legal advice if they wish, especially at the point where the school has done all it can to reach a resolution.

3. POLICY AND PROCESS REVIEW

As well as ensuring regular review of the school's policy and procedure it is just as important to review how complaints have been handled, at regular intervals, including monitoring anonymous complaints that may not be able to be addressed but nonetheless can be discretely investigated. A review would include the scope, clarity and effectiveness of communication, by the school, about the available process, during an actual situation, at the point of resolution and any required follow up as well as the ease and usefulness of the process, from the user's perspective. It would further include reviewing the effectiveness of staff induction, training and communication of updates in this area.

Finally a thorough review is only of benefit if there is a response of taking action to improve and enhance the policy and process which will not only leave complainants feeling respected, if not always satisfied, but also position the school and its reputation as being fair and accountable.

PARENTS PROCEDURE

The procedure here is clear; first go to the person with whom you have a dispute.

“How should I complain?”

The first port of call if the matter involves a staff member or school community person, is to go to that person with your concern and attempt to resolve the matter at this level. Email directly to the staff member or a letter is appropriate.

As a matter of courtesy make an appointment to see the staff member. If you are a parent and phone to make the appointment please understand that we generally don't interrupt teachers when they are in class with phone calls, so please don't be offended if the office staff offer to take a message or ask if the staff member can return the call. It is also helpful to give the person you are wishing to speak to an indication of what you wish to discuss so that they can inform the staff member.

You may feel that the issue needs to go to a senior staff member. The same applies as above.

“I don't want to complain as such, but there is something bothering me.”

Staff members are working towards the same purpose as yourself: the education and well-being of your child. Staff members want to hear your views and ideas. Contact a staff member, as above.

“I am not sure whether to complain or not.”

If you have a concern, as a parent you are entitled to raise it with the school. If in doubt, remember we are here to help. Sometimes it is reassuring just to talk your concerns through with someone.

“What will happen next?”

If you raise something on the phone or in person, it may be resolved immediately and to your satisfaction. If you forward a complaint or suggestion in writing, the school will contact you within 2 working days to respond to your concerns and explain how the matter will proceed. In many cases the person will need to discuss the matter with a colleague and will consider it further before responding. You will be given a date by which time you will be given a response. If a detailed explanation of the issue is needed, a letter or report will be sent to you as quickly as possible. This letter will inform you of the outcome of the complaint. It will explain the conclusion, the reasons for it and any action taken or proposed.

“What happens about confidentiality?”

Your complaint or concern will be treated as confidential and treated with respect. Knowledge of the issue will remain limited to the Principal and to those directly involved. The Chairman of the School Board may also need to be informed in some matters. It is a School policy that complaints made by parents should not rebound adversely on their children. We cannot entirely rule out the need to make third parties outside the School aware of a complaint and possibly also the identities of those involved. This would only happen in a case where the child's safety is at risk or where it became necessary to refer a matter to the police or comply with mandatory reporting of sexual abuse. Parents would be advised accordingly to the nature of the incident and the individual circumstances.

“What if I am not satisfied with the outcome?”

We hope that you are satisfied with the outcome, or at least your concerns have been heard and fully considered. If you are not satisfied, the Principal will offer to refer the matter to the Chairperson of the School Board. Alternatively you may wish to write directly to the Chairperson. The Chairperson will call for a full report from the Principal and will examine matters thoroughly within the Board before responding. The decision of the Board will be conveyed to you. If the complaint is about the Principal, you are welcome to ring or write to the Principal. If you find that too difficult you can write directly to the Chairperson of the Board and address the letter as confidential. The Chairperson will acknowledge the letter and seek to resolve the problem through the Board. The Chairperson will then get in touch with you as soon as possible. If the family is still unhappy with the Board decision, a review can/may be held by an independent arbiter outside the School community.

NB – It should be noted that should you have a dispute as a parent with someone else’s child you may not under any circumstances, approach the student directly and address the issue to the student. Such matters must always be referred to the School management team.

My child has left the school already, can I still make a complaint?

Yes. Complaints from former students and/or their guardians are accepted and dealt with in accordance with the standard despite enrolment having ceased.

Exceptional Circumstances

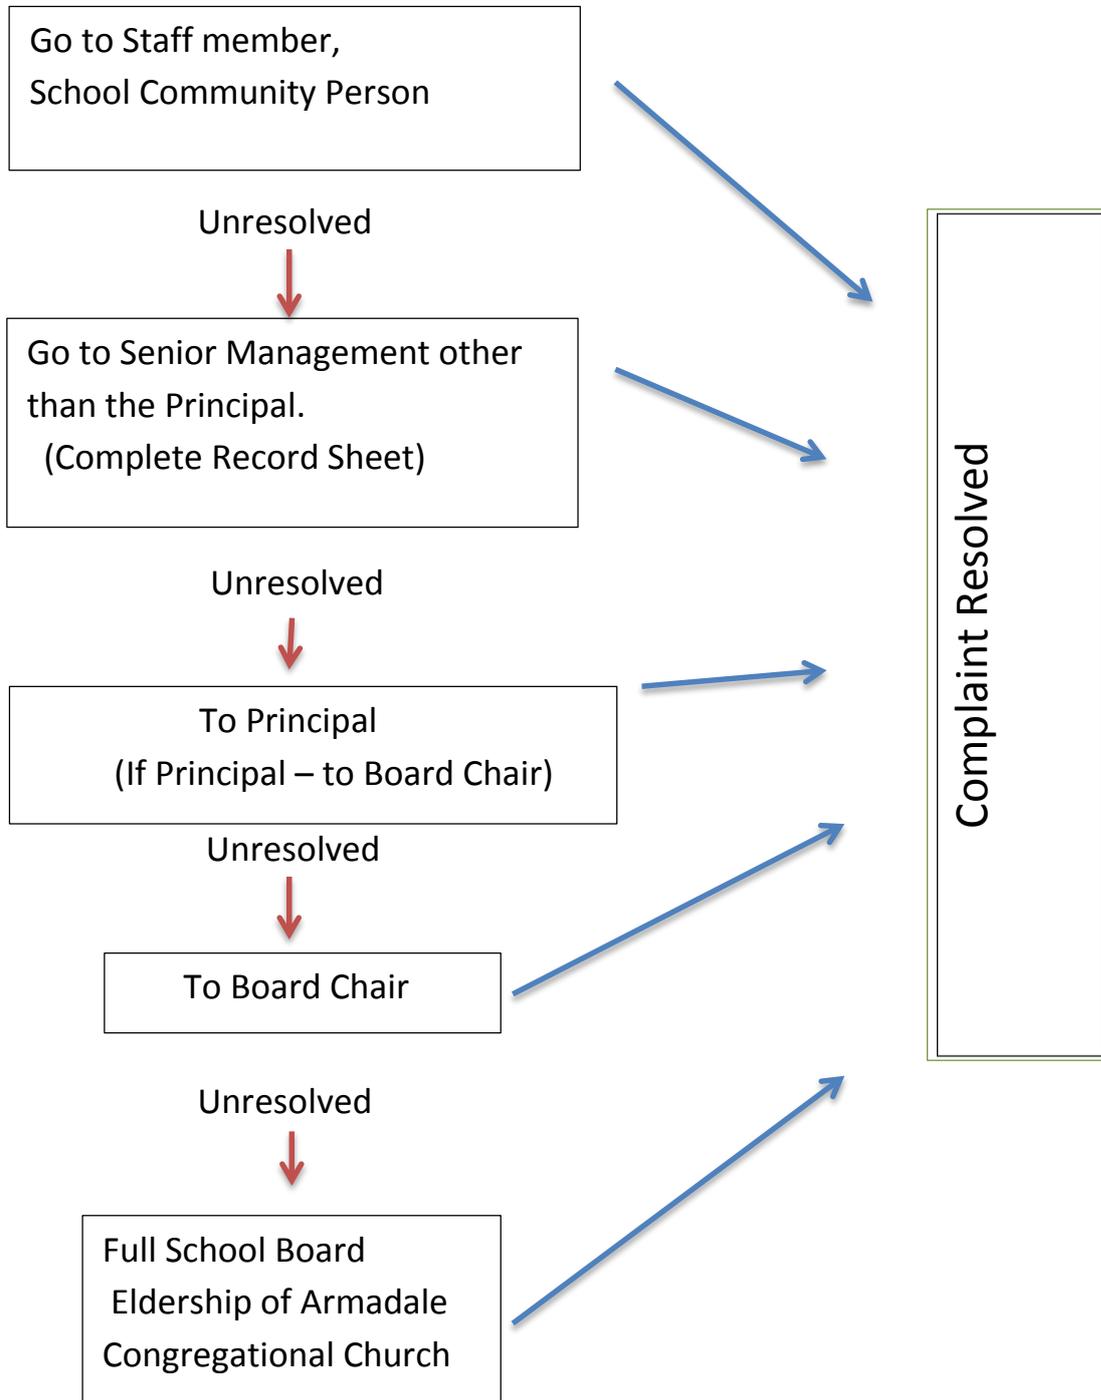

In the event that a matter of serious incompetence or sexual misconduct is involved the matter should be referred to a staff member’s senior manager, immediately. In most instances this will be the School Principal. In the event that such an issue involves the Principal the matter should be referred directly to the School Board.

This does not in any way negate the responsibility we have to refer issues in the first instance to the person concerned. This avenue is only to be used where the sensitivity of the issue requires the direct involvement of a senior manager and should not be used as an excuse to circumvent the School’s Complaint Procedure. If such a breach of the policy occurs the individuals concerned will be referred back to the level where they departed with procedure.

In the event that a School staff member seeks to break with procedure, disciplinary action may be taken.

PARENT PROCEDURE

COMPLAINT

In rare circumstances an independent arbitrator from CSA may be consulted.

Students

It is well recognised that empowering children and young people to understand their rights, to report problems and concerns and effectively support them to address the issue raised is critical. Taking children and young people seriously if they raise a matter of concern and ensuring that staff and volunteers have appropriate training and processes to ensure that such matters are dealt with effectively.

One of the ways in which a school can ensure that their students' views are heard, their rights respected and their safety and wellbeing prioritised is to build a complaints system that is accessible and responsive to the needs of children and young people. The principles that apply to parental complaints should also be applied to complaints and concerns from students. There are, however, differences in approaches. One important difference from the handling of parental complaints is that students should be able to raise concerns with any member of staff with whom they feel comfortable, whether it is the form teacher, a member of the support staff, Pastoral Care Team or Principal.

Complaints that appear trivial still need to be handled seriously. Young people may test the complaints procedures on relatively minor issues before finding the confidence to raise something painful, such as bullying.

If the issue is a painful one, or if exploration of it is taking time, a student may need support from another student or from an adult. Students should be encouraged to choose a person with whom they feel comfortable to provide support. Schools should decide if the student's parents are to be informed or involved and at what point in the process this should take place.

In more complex situations, once the matter is resolved, the outcome should be discussed with the student by a member of staff. To make sure that it is fully understood, a written record may be shared.

In situations where it is believed that the matter needs to be referred on to an external authority it is essential that, at an appropriate time, the staff member explains this to the student, from the perspective of being in the best interests of the student's welfare and safety. Please also note that in most cases, parents will be required to give formal written approval if a non-school employee is to be involved with their child. It is very important that this sort of situation is handled sensitively and in a supportive manner and that the staff member follows the school's policy and fulfils all applicable legal obligations.

There are a variety of reasons why children and young people may not report concerns, eg:

- not believing their problem is big enough to warrant an 'official' complaint;
- not understanding they are allowed to make a complaint or how to go about it;
- concern about not being believed;
- fear of getting into trouble or getting others into trouble;
- embarrassment or shame;
- worry about confidentiality and privacy;
- fear of repercussions and that things will get worse (especially about bullying).

Students need to be given a good understanding that the school is receptive to complaints, how to complain and how complaints are handled. A positive and open culture for disclosure of all concerns, Personal and Social Education programs and the school's Protective Behaviours curriculum are major contributors in not only teaching students how they may support and act as mentors to others, but also in encouraging them to understand that their views matter and to voice concerns.

Any Problems, Complaints or Suggestions? If so, the school would like to hear.

“How do I make a complaint?”

By talking about it – or by writing it down if you find that easier. You can do it by yourself, or as part of a group, or through your parents or guardians.

To Whom?

To anyone on staff.

Does it matter what the issue is?

No, it can be a big problem or a small one. By discussing it, you may come up with some positive ideas.

What will happen next?

If possible the staff member will deal with it in person. If not s/he will go on your behalf to someone who can help.

Do others have to know?

If you are worried about confidentiality, tell the staff – they will understand.

Even if you find the issue hurtful or embarrassing, don't worry – it will only be discussed by staff who can help you.

Note: Complex issues are Pupil/Pupil, Pupil/Teacher personality clash, where a pupil feels they are being picked on or bullied.

I have left the school already, can I still make a complaint?

Yes. Complaints from former students and/or their guardians are accepted and dealt with in accordance with the standard despite enrolment having ceased.
